HOLY BIBLE

The Master of Arts in Theology degree is designed to raise proficient Bible expositors who are competent to serve God efficiently as pastors, missionaries, or leaders in other areas of Christian ministry, and to enable theological reflection upon experience in pastoral practice in the context of ministry in the Church.

The MTh degree is a one-year graduate theological program covering a wide range of subjects. This degree prepares students for leadership by cultivating skills in the study and in-depth interpretation of Scripture. It enables students to take a systematic theological structure, and develop an understanding of the origin and growth of the Christian tradition in all its diversities.

The program is recommended for students who seek to gain competence for the Christian ministry. It is also appropriate for those who, after some years in counseling, teaching, or another field, wish to return to a theological school where they can prepare themselves for new tasks, or to acquire higher competence in Christian ministry.
